

Cartulary of Trentham Priory: Longton

Would call an a matter of controversy for a long time upon the canons of a transaction between the Prior and of the subscripts and Robert de Costentin Trentham, (fn. 9) of the castle and on the chapels of the New Witemor, continence, manifests the present pages; He appeared in the presence of the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, to wit, that the aforesaid Robert the aforesaid people to the canons which he had been complaining of a on the injuriā I ask the lord archbishop, to be compensated for in accordance with the norm of law; and he that (a) he was not able to take part in, and made him a kind of the agent, that is, Viviane de Stoch decisorem of the whole of the issue, and cast him into the hand of the Lord Archbishop, whatever favor the Vivian from the noose. This is the same as that Vivian, and in writing the letters of the Lord Archbishop, as well as by word of mouth of the Bishop of Coventry (fn. 10) may be made. On that account, the Canon Law, and the aforesaid Vivian (fn. 11) in the presence of the Synod of the bishops of Coventry, and it, too, in the case of forged. That it was the aforesaid Prior and agreed to the chapel of the canons of her whole life Witemore Viviano be held, and a talent of gold each year, by delivering one or two shillings to the mother of the Church. In addition, the aforenamed retains the burial of the church, and the love of bread soaked in any offerings, and denarios of St Peter and the rest of the dead, and the rest of all the covenants, for cows The first episcopal remain Viviano with a chapel. Conversely, Vivian, for Robert and for themselves, they cried a quiet chapel of Newcastle, a condition that, if it starts to redivivam a lawsuit against Robert Costentin once this agreement is terminated, so solemnly, Vivian said she was unable to begin Vivian canons against Robert Costentin guarentizare 10 canons and because of the suffering he will render to the chapel of the Witemore wholly free of the marks and with canons to stand against the aforesaid Robert and a cleric, for this grant to the effect of the time she Vivianus the faith of the church of Trentham, declared that he would furnish the mother church of having touched the sacred canons, and with respect to the had of the charter of the chapels as the said Robert de Costentin will render best of his ability on the faithful and the canons of Trentham, and he shall stand, and shall go with them in the conduct his own affairs at the expense of of the same, and the faithful of the counsel of the help of God will make available the trust where, by him to be promoted; and Item assistant who serve in the chapel of Witemore named Vivian presented by the Council, and the first bill of this present agreement shall be held without guile, the mother church. 10 witness, and ye are the marks of the faith, the Histrians sureties, Alan Archidiaconus (fn. 12) of 3 marks, 2 marks of the dean of the Robert, Johannes de Colwich de 2 marks, Robert of Diftune by 1 mark, Henry of Norton, by 1 mark.

c. 1175-80